Reported Defalcation Denied.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The report of the defalcation of several hundred thousand dollars of the Oriental agency of the Pacific Mail Company is denied at the office here, where it is said the story probably grew out of the difference of $50,000 between the accounts of the New York and Yokohama offices. The agent at the latter place is now coming home from San Francisco.

Specie shipments to-day are $22,000 in silver bar.

Pacific Mail and Panama Railway at War.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Sun says a bitter war has been inaugurated between the Panama Railway and Union Pacific and Pacific Mail interests. When Sydney Dillon associated and entered into administration of the Pacific Mail company most of the best steamers were withdrawn from the connecting basis which would be generally satisfactory. While representatives of the several companies agreed that such an arrangement would be desirable, yet because such a conflict of interests that would be the proper division of the profits that the contest be ended and at the annual election of the directors of the Panama railway on Monday, the Pacific Mail proxies were not appointed from the list. Immediately after the organization of the Panama directory yesterday the Panama company passed a resolution giving notice to the Pacific Mail that at the end of 5 days the present contract regulating the division of profits would be abrogated. The Pacific Mail directors cabled word to be sent to the Panama company that they would waive the 5 days notice, preferring that the contract be abrogated at once, their intention being to ship Chinese freight over the Pacific road instead of by the Panama as now allowing the Pacific Mail Steamship Company one half the freights for freight between China and New York, the latter line carrying the passengers. The Panama people not to be outdone, threaten the Pacific Mail with a rival line of steamers which will be run in the interest of Panama.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, April 7.—The Boston wool market remains unchanged and fairly active. Manufacturers are buying a better assortment of suitable grades such as medium and No 1 fleeces and combing and delaine fleeces, business would be much larger, if there is a demand for the full range. There is a good supply of fine wools including Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces and choice Australia but buyers still operate cautiously though prices are low. Any further concession can scarcely be expected. Delaine lots of superfine can be sold at and demand full prices. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been at 52@53c as to quality with XXX and medium, the latter commanding the highest figures. Michigan and Wisconsin X sold at 50@52c; washed and combing and delaine, at 60@65c, pulled wool ranges from 45c to 55c as to quality, for superfine, good and choice superfine 60@65c.

Frauds in the Postoffice Department.

CHICAGO, April 7.—A Washington special gives the following details of frauds in the contract bureau of the postoffice department. The detection of criminals was obtained by a clerk in the office of the second assistant postmaster general, who has charge of the Arkansas and Texas routes. Kettles who is the chief conspirator had succeeded in obtaining extensive contracts for carrying mails in Texas and had been so successful in corrupting clerks in the department that he had become bold and assumed that all clerks were corrupt, and that they could all be used for his purposes. The lettings in which frauds occurred commence July 1st next. Those for Texas had been awarded. Of these Ketchum and a man named Tompkins of Mich gan succeeded by fraud in obtaining the. Inducements by his friends in the Texas routes he approached Stickles, the clerk, and exacting a pledge of secrecy informed him he wanted aid in the Arkansas routes and wanted Stickles to inform him what the amounts of the lowest bids on those routes which he described. Kettles at the same time promised Stickles a liberal reward if he would render the service. Stickles declined, telling Kettles if he attempted the frauds in the Arkansas routes he would expose his rascality. Kettles however succeeded in entering his bid clandestinely after the time for opening the bids for the Arkansas routes. Those bids not appearing when examination was made Kettles complained to Judge Wilshire, Representative from Arkansas that he had put in several bids which had not appeared. Wilshire complained to the Assistant Postmaster General. In looking over the bids Stickles found Kettles bid was found. Sister, who was making the research was then informed by Stickles in confidence of Kettles operations, and that, in consequence he had thrown out Kettles bid. This was reported to the Postmaster General and resulted in Mr Tyner the present incumbent assuming the office of Second assistant postmaster general. Three weeks ago the postmaster general received a letter saying that frauds were being committed and a counterfeit stamp of the department being used that by comparance of the clerks the figures of the lowest bids were altered by outsiders that by means of counterfeited stamps the bids could be shipped in which were never before the officers. Tyner's suspicions were aroused and he immediately began an examination of Kettles bids. The stamp on the envelope in which the letter and began to read. As he did so Wood fell and abandoned his case by the side of Bowen and left the room. The incident probably was without significance to those present but Bowen observed it and the buzz of comment. Evidently was for a moment without which the mute rapt on of conversation stopping only to ask witness how a plain the meaning of [illegible] Bowen had a letter [illegible] he handed a dozen nails made a correction in [illegible] explained Beecher's emotion again stirred and he could not only to this [illegible] but to those of many of the audience. The grew more fluent and eloquent as [illegible] compelled him again to object to keep him within rules. Each of the [illegible] in his own Beecher's [illegible] in the intensest degree was of course lost by this.

For the convenience of reference and to illustrate the simplicity that [illegible] tions those of the most [illegible] letter are given below in [illegible] columns.

THE LETTER

God knows [illegible] put more the right [illegible] Judgment [illegible] and can feel [illegible] press way for [illegible] and I [illegible] Babcock [illegible] I did [illegible] do. I [illegible] do. The [illegible] not to [illegible] to [illegible] prejudices or [illegible] of evil [illegible] feeling among all [illegible] I met I am [illegible] among [illegible] people [illegible] mean [illegible] generally [illegible] or of public [illegible] have used very [illegible] endeavor to restrain [illegible] which I have [illegible] with increasing success.

THE EXPLANATION

God knows—Now what facts in our [illegible] put more the right does [illegible] Judgment [illegible] refer to?

Can feel—It refers to [illegible] press way for [illegible] the [illegible] endeavor [illegible] and I did [illegible] to set the [illegible] do. The [illegible] Mr Bowen [illegible] not to [illegible] that I [illegible] prejudices or [illegible] that I believe [illegible] of evil [illegible] Mr Tilton [illegible] feeling among all [illegible] and temperate manner [illegible] I met I am [illegible] instructed him [illegible] among [illegible] people [illegible] mean [illegible] heard that [illegible] generally [illegible] in many [illegible] or of public [illegible] often with [illegible] have used very [illegible] that forgiveness [illegible] endeavor to restrain [illegible] to do [illegible] which I have [illegible] dertook to [illegible] with increasing success [illegible] as would be a brilliant [illegible] man put at the head of the Tilton letter.

The paragraph in which Beecher suggested he should step down and out was next read and explained. Beecher displayed great emotion. Then came the passage about the ragged edge, which

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL

Cleveland's Testimony Postponed

NEW YORK, April 7.—[Special Telegram to the Oregonian.]—It was agreed by counsel this morning that it was agreed by counsel that Cleveland's testimony should be postponed till after the Centennial.

Beecher's Testimony Resumed

Beecher resumed in regard to the letter of Wood's fall last night. Testimony [illegible] the day and evening of which it [illegible] stated about 20 minutes. At [illegible] he came down to record [illegible] Mrs Tilton [illegible] and [illegible] him to [illegible] and when he declined to [illegible] him while [illegible] and hoped and thought [illegible] sympathized with [illegible] Witness did [illegible] couldn't and wouldn't [illegible] Mrs Tilton's [illegible] woman Moulton said for [illegible] Ward Beecher to [illegible] this meeting would show in bright [illegible] unity [illegible] the matter. He refused and [illegible] absolutely [illegible] Woodhull [illegible] He didn't see how he could [illegible] and if he changed his mind before evening, he might [illegible] Moulton and wife met Woodhull at dinner time they told [illegible] her. He [illegible] that he received a letter from Woodhull in reference to a [illegible] Washington to a meeting of [illegible] which also [illegible] in pleading at South way Hall. He answered the first only. He had a conversation with Moulton about [illegible] tons podia Mr Marmaduke Musgrave and told him he thought it was dastardly. That was an ill bird that fouled its own nest. He said it almost broke his heart to see Elizabeth's name brought before the public in that way. In December 1871 witness had an interview with Tilton in which [illegible] came back and told him if he [illegible] came back and took part in the church all ill feeling might be removed. In one interview he thought he expressed himself to return and witness might have expressed the opinion that he would be well received. Once when he spoke of sending a letter declaring his membership he could then announce personally but did not seem inclined to do so. In none of these conversations over two or three months, did anything take place in reference to the method of dropping his name from the rolls. Evans read part of Tilton's direct testimony in regard to this matter and witness denied its truth. He met Tilton January 24th in the cars between Springfield and Boston. Tilton greeted him kindly. They talked of home matters and Tilton asked him to call on his house and not let anything that had occurred interrupt its visits. Tilton soon began to write and [illegible] remarked, saying it would injure his prospects. He did not [illegible] to write any other sir Barnaby [illegible] The letter of witness to Moulton of Feb 7 accounts for something [illegible] previously. I went [illegible] to Moulton's office [illegible] did not [illegible] and went [illegible] his work. On going out he spoke to me and when I began to converse he was very abrupt and appeared angry and said it was well for me who had friends and home to die and not for him. Some [illegible] and were being injured by those who were around me. The conversation was everything to me as I was going away next week. I found I couldn't get off [illegible] in the court [illegible] honor [illegible] my obligation to Tilton was certain I had fulfilled every obligation to Tilton I had entered into.

Evarts read a letter of Beecher's to Moulton telling him he was leaving the city for a week and about meeting Tilton on the railway. This was a letter of February, 1872, and was already in evidence.

During the reading of the letter witness said: The anxieties I referred to were that troubles in Tilton's family shouldn't be dragged into my church and made a subject of church inquiry and precedent. Expectations that I changed my opinion of Tilton's character failed to reform. There was a good supply of fine wools including Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces and choice Australia but buyers still operate cautiously though prices are low. Any further concession can scarcely be expected. Delaine lots of superfine can be sold at and demand full prices. Sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been at 52@53c as to quality with XXX and medium, the latter commanding the highest figures. Michigan and Wisconsin X sold at 50@52c; washed and combing and delaine, at 60@65c, pulled wool ranges from 45c to 55c as to quality, for superfine, good and choice superfine 60@65c.

Fearful Explosion of Giant Powder and Loss of Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—Shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon the city was shaken by an explosion followed closely by a second and a third from the corner of Stewart and Folsom streets. On the arrival of the firemen at the corner named a fearful scene presented itself. West of Hathaway's brick bonded warehouse was a small wooden building used by Mr Rasdon, contractor for removing Rincon reef as an office. His foreman Mr Clark was engaged in filling giant powder cartridges when an explosion occurred. The office a saloon and restaurant at the corner and two frame dwellings adjoining were blown into fragments. The wall of the bonded warehouse on the east crushed in and the warehouse, a large [illegible] has been [illegible] the opposite side of Harrison street and the debris of frame buildings were a mass of flame. From the burning pile came cries and groans of crushed and mangled men, women and children, caught in the fallen ruins and writhing in the embrace of the flames. The heat was intense rendering assistance at most impossible. By the greatest exertions a number of unfortunates were rescued from their fearful situation but many others were beyond all aid and perished in the flames. At present three bodies have been recovered and it is believed others have been taken out but in the confusion it is impossible to state the number for a certainty. A number of wounded were taken to St Mary's Hospital near by. The following are believed to be killed either by the explosion or in the flames: Mr Clark, Rasdon's foreman; Fred Haas barkeeper in the saloon, Coyer, a colored man; Ingleman, unknown boy; Sharp proprietor of the restaurant; Mrs Sharp and H P Baker. Of those removed to the hospital, wounded are Alexander Thompson, said to be dying; at the time the reporter left the scene, Herman Haas son of the barkeeper and his mother, both severely injured; Henry Richards dangerously hurt. It is impossible at present to give with any accuracy the names or number of killed and wounded. Many bodies are supposed to be still in the ruins. By the exertions of the fire department the fire was prevented from spreading further and in the course of the evening the ruins will probably be thoroughly searched. The loss of property in the bonded warehouse is not less than half a million dollars. The principal consignees of goods stored therein are C C Merrill & Co H F Blanchard & Co Forbes Bros Parrott & Co and C Adolphi Low & Co. The loss on the hay barn and coal shed adjoining, and on the small frames is perhaps $25,000 additional. The greatest excitement prevails and all sorts of rumors are flying about as regards the number of killed some estimating it as high as 15 or 20 or even more. In running to the fire the hose cart of No 9 was capsized, and four men riding on it injured some very seriously being run over by a hook and ladder truck closely following. They were taken to St Mary's Hospital for medical assistance. The bodies recovered from the ruins are being taken to the morgue as promptly as possible and during the evening the loss of life will probably be definitely ascertained.

A man named John Daly committed suicide this afternoon at the corner of Pacific and Powell streets by taking strychnine. Jealousy of his wife is supposed to have been the cause of the act.

Reception to Senator Sargent

Hon A A Sargent arrived this evening. He was met at the wharf by a deputation of his friends and military of the city and escorted to the Cosmopolitan hotel, where he is now addressing the crowd. As a military display the affair was a success, others use the effort to arouse public enthusiasm in behalf of the returning Senator meets with a somewhat cool and indifferent reception at the hands of the people at large.

The following is a summer episode as evolved by little Johnny: "Last summer our dog Towser was all lym in the sun a time to keep but the flies was it bad he could n't get his head to catch em and he tried to bite it off his head and was a whole afternoon. He was in. Towser he lies a hot still and when the sun was close to his nose Towser waited at the like he and you see what this duffer is a doin. SENATOR CHRISTIANCY'S GREAT SPEECH

We give below in full the speech of Hon Isaac P Christiancy, United States Senator from Michigan in opposition to the admission of Pinchback which has been so generally commended and the suppression of the leading papers of the Atlantic side. Mr Christiancy needs no introduction to the reading public, but it may be remarked that the President might and that it might be his duty to recognize the Government that is in the actual exercise of power as de facto government until the question of right could be properly decided or until a proper election could be had and that such a recognition so far at least as the executive of the Government was concerned might very properly be followed by whether binding or not upon both branches of Congress. I conclude that at the time of the Senatorial election the Kellogg Government (the governor and legislature) constituted in one sense a de facto Government that it was in the actual possession and exercise of the government powers over that State.

But how did it obtain the possession of this power, and who gave it this de facto character? It did not obtain possession of the Government forthself by its own acts, nor by the acts or the will of the people of the State it was admitted on all hands Kellogg and his legislature could never have become a de facto government or a government of any kind and it is perfectly evident from the testimony that McFeery and his legislature which had more of the forms of regularity about it and probably the majority of votes thought reeking with fraud and not free from intimidation and force would without Federal aid, have obtained possession of the government and constituted the Government de facto but for the interference of the Federal Executive Kellogg and his legislature had never been in power has legislature had never been legally elected by whom votes for governor were to be counted no organization of his government had taken place when the Federal Executive intervened by military force on the alleged authority of an order from the United States Senate. He has such all pretext at least in him to find lawyers except perhaps the Attorney-General it that constitutes an exception—admit to have been void and placed the Kellogg Government in power and kept it there. It was this and this alone which have gave it inception which placed and continued it in power and gave it its entire and only character of a government de facto. Having at this was only become a de facto Government the executive could give it no additional sanction or effect by recognizing it as the de facto government nor had the Congress or either House of Congress by such recognition only of its own acts of the government he had instituted and set up not of one which he had found in existence. The act of 1795 which has been claimed as making the acts of the executive equivalent to the action or authority of Congress can only have that effect, if at all so far as his action comes within and was authorized by it and though that act may justify the employment of the military force to put down insurrection and to restore violence and to protect and keep in power against insurrectionary forces even a merely de facto government already existing upon which I express no opinion it certainly does not authorize him to create and institute a State Government which had no previous or other existence in act or law. The logical process which can give to a subsequent recognition by the executive of a government thus instituted any greater legal validity than inhered from its organism or make it action binding upon either House of Congress, as a process which, however it may prove in more skillful hands is of no value in my hands, and I could not in so short a reach such a conclusion without cutting my own fingers. To me the whole process seems to be circular beginning where it ends and ending where it begins and with whatever velocity it may be made to revolve it never moves a step forward from the point where it started. It leaves this Kellogg Government which assumed to elect a Senator in Congress just where and what it was in its origin, not a legislature or government of the State of Louisiana but a body set up, installed and kept in power and imposed upon the State by the Executive Department of the Federal Government, and deriving all its authority from the Executive action and I do not myself see how the decision of the Louisiana courts constituting as they do only one branch of this Government, thus set up, can be any more binding upon us than the action of the pretended Legislature whether those judges were in office under previous existing governments, or, as was the case here judges had been appointed but not taken part in the illegal [illegible] for the purpose of securing the desired course of decision.

And now Mr President for the purpose of testing by its results the soundness of any course of reasoning which would bind Congress or the Senate by the action of a State government thus set up and established or any branch of such government I will say that if this is true of the State of Louisiana it must be equally true of any and every other State in the Union where such a government might be thus set up and sustained and the same course of reasoning which would authorize the setting up and sustaining such a government in Louisiana would as a matter of law equally authorize it in any other State under like circumstances that is when the candidates for governor and the legislature on two opposing tickets both claim to be elected and neither has yet got possession of the government and, to make the parallel entire, but when in the opinion of the most violence may be apprehended from the contest. This might occur in any State as well at the North as in the South. Suppose it had occurred, as it might in Michigan at the last election, and owing to the heated passions of the partisans on either side and the frauds committed at the election or in canvassing the votes a similar difficulty existed in determining which candidate was elected and while the dispute was still open and neither candidate for governor had obtained possession of the office a district court of the United States had assumed jurisdiction of the question in the same or any other way and to decide who was elected and undertaken to decide upon the [illegible] of the returns of the [illegible] as the President had sent the military to enforce this decision of the Federal court and to place in power and sustain the candidate in whose favor the court had decided. While the people of Michigan might not object to the action of the Chemeketa Hotel, Salem, last Tuesday evening, which was regarded as a leading event of the season.

At the school meeting held on Monday evening in District No 21 John Kenworthy was elected director for three years and Mr Eland clerk for one year.

The snow as reported to be much deeper than usual in the Blue Mountains and should warm weather come suddenly we may look out for high water, and will probably see it.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: "All the indications point to a cheerful spring with fine business prospects and energy in trade. The long winter is breaking our people are recovering from the disappointment incident to the failure of the railroad schemes in which they were so largely interested. The farmers are preparing for their crops. In every branch of industry and commerce we have cheerful signs. It is time that this long strike, as it were, this long season of depression, should come to an end."

The Statesman of Walla Walla is responsible for the following: Hon. Philip Ritz has returned from Washington, having passed the winter at the National Capital. Mr Ritz was at Washington on the interest of the North Pacific Railroad and as consequence is well posted in regard to all matters connected with that enterprise. His opinion is that the failure to obtain favorable action at the last session of Congress, practically seals the fate of the Company, and that the people of the Northwest coast have nothing further to look for from that quarter. The principal men in the company had embarked nearly all their means in the work, and its failure has so crippled them that they are unable to raise the means necessary to continue work on the road. The impression now is that the company will cease to exist, and the land grant lapse to the government."

The iron bark Harvest Home Capt Davis 135 days from London, consigned to Sprout & Co., arrived Saturday morning in Royal Roads. The captain reports average weather. He was 25 days off Cape Horn, spoke the bark Transito Alvarez, from Valparaiso, bound for Victoria in ballast. When off the Straits on Thursday night Capt. Davis mistook the Cape Beale light for Cape Flattery light, and ran into Barkley Sound, thinking he was entering the Straits. Upon discovering his error he anchored within a cable's length of the shore, and on the following day Capt Howard, a Puget Sound pilot, took charge of the bark and brought her to Royal Roads. Capt. Davis did not feel the humiliation of last Wednesday week at all. The Harvest Home has a tonnage of 547. Amongst her cargo are 1,300 bbls of cement, for the dry dock (?) and a large quantity of stores for the imperial government.

WHAT DID HE MEAN?—Old Mr Throop, up on Eighth street, is as good as he is corpulent, and has a way of singing hymns in soft undertones as he goes along the street. Yesterday morning he was picking his way along the slippery grade down Division street, singing, as usual, and he just finished the line, "A charge to keep I have," when he felt a terrible concussion, and the air was full of hats, and spectacles and red handkerchiefs, and arctic overshoes, and old Mr Throop blended his hymn into "Dog gone the diddledy dad binged infernal old trap to the god dinged Pikes." And of all the people who helped him up and handed him his things, not one could tell what he meant by those remarkable phrases, and we don't believe he knew himself.—Burlington Hawkeye.

JURISDICTION OF THE UNITED STATES COURTS.

Congress, at its last session, passed "An Act to Determine the Jurisdiction of the Circuit Courts of the United States, and to Regulate the Removal of Causes from State Courts, and for Other Purposes," the first section of which makes large and important additions to the jurisdiction of the U. S. Circuit Courts. The section reads as follows:

That the Circuit Courts of the United States shall have original cognizance, concurrent with the courts of the several States, of all suits of a civil nature at common law or in equity, where the matter in dispute exceeds, exclusive of costs, the sum or value of five hundred dollars, and arising under the Constitution or laws of the United States, or treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; or in which the United States are plaintiffs or petitioners, or in which there shall be a controversy between citizens of different States or a controversy between citizens of the same State, claiming lands under grants of different States; or a controversy between citizens of a State and foreign states, citizens or subjects; and shall have exclusive cognizance of all crimes and offenses cognizable under the authority of the United States, except as otherwise provided by law, and concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts of the crimes and offenses cognizable therein. But no person shall be arrested in one district for trial in another in any civil action before a circuit or district court. And no civil suit shall be brought before either of said courts against any person by any original process or proceeding in any other district than that whereof he is an inhabitant, or in which he shall be found at the time of serving such process or commencing such proceeding, except as hereinafter provided; nor shall any circuit or district court have cognizance of any suit founded on contract in favor of an assignee unless a suit might have been prosecuted in such court to recover thereon if no assignment has been made, except in cases of promissory notes negotiable by the law merchant and bills of exchange. And the circuit courts shall also have appellate jurisdiction from the district courts under the regulations and restrictions prescribed by law.

The words we have italicised cover the increase of jurisdiction, from which it appears that in all cases arising under the constitution, laws and treaties of the United States, suit may be brought in the United States court without reference to the citizenship of the parties, and that the right of assignees of negotiable commercial paper to sue in the Federal court is extended to all classes of negotiable notes and bills of exchange, whereas heretofore the right only existed in cases arising on foreign bills. The enlargement of the jurisdiction so as to cover all cases arising under the constitution, laws and treaties of the United States, confers jurisdiction to the full extent authorized by the constitution, following the words of that instrument.

Section 8 of the act enables the U. S. courts to acquire jurisdiction over non-resident parties by publication in cases where that is necessary to protect the rights of other persons in or to property situated within the territorial jurisdiction. This law was greatly needed, as the right of persons otherwise entitled to seek remedies in the Federal courts was, in many cases, denied them simply because the adverse party kept himself out of the jurisdiction and thus made personal service impossible. In many cases also, especially cases concerning real property, some one or more of the necessary parties being non-residents made it impracticable to go into the United States courts when, in all matters affecting the substantial rights of the parties, the case was a proper one for that forum. The section conferring the power to acquire jurisdiction by substitute service reads:

SEC. 8. That when in any suit, commenced in any circuit court of the United States, to enforce any legal or equitable lien upon, or claim to, or to remove any incumbrance or lien or cloud upon the title to real or personal property within the district where such suit is brought, one or more of the defendants thereto shall not be an inhabitant of, or found within, the said district, or shall not voluntarily appear thereto, it shall be lawful for the court to make an order directing such absent defendant or defendants to appear, plead, answer, or demur, by a day certain to be designated, which order shall be served on such absent defendant or defendants, if practicable, wherever found, and also upon the person or persons in possession or charge of said property, if any there be; or where such personal service upon such absent defendant or defendants is not practicable, such order shall be published in such manner as the court may direct, not less than once a week for six consecutive weeks; and in case such absent defendant shall not appear, plead, answer or demur within the time so limited, or within some further time, to be allowed by the court, in its discretion, and upon proof of the service or publication of said order, and of the performance of the directions contained in the same, it shall be lawful for the court to entertain jurisdiction, and proceed to the hearing and adjudication of such suit in the same manner as if such absent defendant had been served with process within the said district; but said adjudication shall, as regards said absent defendant or defendants without appearance, affect only the property which shall have been the subject of the suit and under the jurisdiction of the court therein, within such district. And when a part of the said real or personal property against which such proceeding shall be taken shall be within another district, but within the same State, said suit may be brought in either district in said State; Provided, however, That any defendant claiming right to the possession of property notified as above provided may, at any time within one year after final judgment in such suit mentioned in this section, enter his appearance in said suit in said circuit court, and thereupon the said court shall make an order setting aside the judgment therein, and permitting said defendant or defendants to plead therein, on payment by him or them of such costs as the court shall deem just, and thereupon said suit shall be proceeded with to final judgment according to law.

BESSIE TURNER'S STRAIGHTFORWARD STORY.

On looking over the verbatim report of the testimony of Bessie Turner in the Beecher case, which has just reached us by mail, we are forced to conclude the people of New York do not judge of the credibility of witnesses by the same rules that prevail out here. The Herald, which is supposed to be a pretty fair representative of public sentiment and prevailing ideas there, speaks in unusually complimentary terms of the manner in which the witness acquitted herself, and the success with which she went through the rigorous cross-examination of Fullerton without any serious discrepancy between her statements on this occasion and her testimony before the committee last summer. Here is a short extract which will serve to show the manner of her extricating herself from the awkward predicament in which she was placed by directly contradicting her former testimony on some important points:

Q. Did you state before the committee that on the first occasion I awoke and found myself in Tilton's arms. I hardly realized where I was. He must have taken me from my bed and put me into his?" A. Yes.

Q. And you were mistaken? A. Yes, I was mistaken.

Q. Did you tell them "When I awoke I asked what he was doing that for, and he said he was lonesome, and wanted me to come and be with him?" A. Yes.

Q. And you were mistaken? A. Yes.

Q. Did you say, "I said that wasn't right, and I went back to the room and locked the door, and nothing was said about it at that time?" A. Yes.

Q. Did you say, "I was quite young and just like one of the children, and used to comb his hair, and he frequently kissed me. I never had an impure thought with regard to this man?" A. Yes.

Q. Did you say "The second time he came to my room he was indignant, and went to another and locked the door. I never thought of locking it before." A. Yes, I suppose I said so. It is here.

Q. In speaking of these occasions were you asked if both events were near each other, and did you answer, "Yes, sir, pretty near each other?" A. Yes.

Q. And you were mistaken? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you asked whether Mrs. Tilton had come back from Schoharie, and did you answer, "No, sir?" A. Yes.

Q. When was she at Schoharie? A. While I was at school, I think.

Q. Was she at Schoharie any time except while you were in Ohio? A. No, sir.

Q. How did you know she was at Schoharie, except by her correspondence with you, while at school? A. The way I account for it is this: she used to go to Monticello every summer, and I just happened to think of Schoharie while before the committee.

That may go for a straightforward statement in New York, but we Oregon barbarians would find it hard to believe the statements admitted to have been made by the witness before the Plymouth committee have been made through mistake. The nature of the facts testified to is such that such a mistake would be a mental impossibility. That explanation is altogether too thin.

THE BULLETIN GOES BACK.

If only some plan could be devised to fasten our neighbor, the ring organ when it is at its best, it could be made a pretty paper. Once in a great while it gets on the right side of some important question, and talks very sensibly for a brief period. But unfortunately its good streaks are spasmodic, fitful and of short duration. It lacks staying qualities. For instance, when last Tuesday morning it came out so strongly in favor of the regulation, by law, of the tariff of charges on the Central Pacific railway, and in contradiction of its oft-repeated denials of the right to do so, we felt exceedingly gratified. We had so long urged that same thing, and always with the ring organ for an opponent, that its change to our side was a surprise and a delight. We began fondly to hope we might hereafter have in the organ, at least until its managers received contrary orders from Messrs. Holladay & Hipple, an ally in the fight against all forms of monopoly oppression; and so hoping, we were willing to forget all the silly and ridiculous shifts—to put it mildly—to which it had resorted of late with regard to the dispatches.

But these fond anticipations were destined to be short-lived. A single day, and the spasm of sense under which the organ had taken the right side abated. Like the cow that gives a fine bucket of milk and then puts her filthy foot into it, the organ yesterday spoiled all the good work of the day before by coming out with a leading article full of intemperate denunciation of the Western Union Company for proposing to build a line of telegraph through Idaho and Eastern Oregon where Platte Burr (of Chicago Times fame) has talked about building one. Why should this company build alongside the other proposed line? urges the Bulletin. Why should there be a competing line? It is a shame and outrage, declares the organ. A competing line will prevent the Platte Burr line from charging the people extortionate prices for the transmission of dispatches, and therefore the competing line must not be allowed to be built. So the Bulletin repents of its unnatural advocacy of the people against the monopolists for a single day, and makes amends by going back to its old ground and out-heroding Herod in its opposition to healthful competition in business. But the ring organ may as well save itself all further fretting and frothing over this enterprise of Mr. Platte Burr (of Chicago Times fame), as all the telegraph he will build in Idaho and Eastern Oregon is not going to make much of a monopoly.

The San Francisco Chronicle having stated that Mrs. L. M. F. Wauser, who will soon be graduated from the Medical Department of the California University, "is the first woman on this coast who has ever been admitted to similar honor and companionship," gets from the Salem Statesman a sharp rap over the knuckles. The Statesman urges the claim of Oregon to the honor which the Chronicle gives California, and refers to the fact that Miss B. A. Owens, of this city, of the firm of Adams & Owens, is a regular graduate of the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania, and now enjoys, on this coast, the high "honor and companionship," which to the California lady is not yet a fact but merely a hope.

A copy of the first number of "The North Pacific," a neat little paper to be hereafter issued quarterly for the North Pacific Mutual Life Association, by Geo. H. Himes, was placed on our desk yesterday. As its name and auspices indicate, the paper is devoted to Life Assurance interests and especially the interests of our home company. The managers inform us they print an edition of several thousand copies, and circulate their paper very extensively, which makes it a good means of advertising Oregon, and a good medium for Oregon people to advertise in.

The Chicago Tribune classes our John Hipple as a sensational stock jobber. The Tribune is certainly misinformed about our John. Somebody has evidently imposed on the Tribune to the prejudice of the Raphael-eyed nunn of many wives.

A NEW SCHOOL FOR YOUNG GIRLS,
AN ANGLO-GERMAN INSTITUTION TO MEET the particular wants of those who desire to secure for their children a good education in the English and the German Language, in one as well as the other, has of late been opened in the Chapel of the German Evangelical Reformed Congregation of this city, on Washington street, below Third street, by Rev. JOHN GANTENBEIN, Pastor of said congregation. The German and English Grammar, French, Instrumental and Vocal Music, Drawing and Ornamental Needle Work, besides all the Common school branches, will be taught with efficiency. Yet the principal aim of the Institution is the combination of the two languages, and the education of the pupils mind to a character of pure morals and true godliness on the common platform of the people of Israel and the different Christian denominations. In order to establish good habits and a refined, strict discipline in it, the school has been opened without examination, with a selection of only 20 girls, mostly below 10 years of age, and from very respectable families, and is now prepared to admit new scholars gradually, one after another. Applications for admission may be addressed to the Director of the Institution, Rev. JOHN GANTENBEIN, N. E. corner of 10th and G streets, or to his daughters, the Teachers in the school, on Washington, below Third street. a6dlm

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 8 1875

CITY.

IMPORTANT LAW SUIT.—The San Francisco Post of March 30th, says A case of some importance has been on trial in the 12th district court for the last two days The complaint filed by Martin White sets forth that by the terms of a certain agreement White agreed to loan to S G Elliott $12 000 to enable him to maintain his rights in the Oregon Central Railroad Company involving substantially all the rights and property of the Company. The property included $3 200 000 bonds of the Company In consideration of this loan Elliott granted to White the option to take in lieu of the repayment of the money one-half of all the property of the railroad company except the bonds which Elliott should recover, and one half of the bonds recovered after deducting $1 100 000 thereof The suits which Elliott was defending were the famous Ben Holladay railroad suits White alleges that Elliott is endeavoring to sell out his interest in those suits, wherefore he prays that an order be made restraining him from selling Elliott replies by a cross complaint, asking the cancellation of the agreement alleging fraud in its execution and asking $100 000 damages The case is hotly contested. Geo F Baker appears for Captain White and Messrs John on & Dorsey for Elliott.

COLD WEATHER.—Notwithstanding "mild ethereal spring" has come, and this is the 8th of April, the weather continues unusually cold On Monday and Tuesday of the present week, the sun shone bright and clear yet the wind came whistling from the northwest as keen and piercing as a knife Yesterday was cloudy, but quite raw and cloaks gloves furs, shawls and overcoats, were unanimously voted comfortable appendages Ice to the thickness of half an inch, has been formed for several nights past on the surface of water left exposed, which may be regarded as something rather remarkable for this time of the year The cold weather, it seems has not been confined to the western slopes of the Cascades. A gentleman just down from east of the mountains reports the weather very disagreeable along the Columbia, especially at Wallula. Last Saturday at that point the thermometer stood at 32°, and a terrible cold wind was blowing, which fairly chilled the marrow in one's bones.

BOARD OF TRADE.—Notice was given that a regular meeting of this body would be held last evening, and four or five members met at the rooms, On examination of the records it was found that the time for the regular meeting is fixed on the second Wednesday after the first Monday of each month So no meeting was held last night. On Wednesday of next week will occur the regular meeting for April In this connection we notice the fact that the board is now in receipt of leading commercial papers and periodicals from the large cities of Europe and America These papers are regularly filed at the board rooms for the inspection of the members We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation from the secretary to visit the rooms and examine the newspapers now found there.

EXTRA BOAT.—Yesterday morning the steamer Yakima left Celilo with a load of railroad iron This is a portion of the iron brought here on the Arauco, and is intended for the Wallula and Walla Walla railroad In a few days the entire cargo of iron will be conveyed to Celilo and from thence is to be transported to Wallula by the Yakima, which has been put on temporarily as an extra steamer, the Tenino being the regular freight and passenger boat Several weeks will be required to convey the iron to Wallula, at the end of which time, it is hoped that the water in the Snake river will be high enough to admit of the passage of a boat to Lewiston If such is the case, the Yakima will be confined to the line.

NOT SUNK.—A short time ago it was reported that the O S N Co's large wharf boat at Wallula the Wolfoot—s sunk during a heavy gale Mr. Holland has just returned from that point and he informs us the reported sinking of the wharf boat is without foundation. During the continuance of the terrible gale at the upper works of the Wolfoot were torn from their fastenings and carried away The hull was swept clear as a whistle, and the cabin was used in all directions. Fortunately, the hull is yet without serious damage It is the intention of the company to rebuild the portion carried away by the wind storm Carpenters will soon commence operations on the upper works of the Wolfoot

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—Last evening the annual election of officers of the City Rifles took place at their armory, Capt John M Gearin presiding The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year Capt, C C Philips; 1st Lieut, J. M. Birmingham 2d Lieut Jas Dowling; 1st Serg't L H Hopkins, 2d Serg't, and Quartermaster, E P Hood 3d Serg't, Wm. Church, Jr 4th Serg't, Robert Bentley, 5th Sergeant (color bearer), R H Thompson, Secretary, J M Birmingham Treasurer, Wm Church, Jr

TWENTY FOURTH ANNIVERSARY.—Next Wednesday will be the 24th anniversary of the organization of the municipal government of Portland Of those who actively participated in the organization of the present city government, only two remain W S Caldwell, present auditor and clerk, and Hon Shubrick Norris, one of the police commissioners By way of commemorating the important event, the Common Council will hold a special meeting on Wednesday evening of next week

THE TEAZER.—There is a strong probability, we understand, of the little propeller Teazer which was purchased some time ago by the O S N Co., being brought down to this city during the high water in May or June At present the Teazer is tied up at the Dalles as she is too small to be of any service to the company on the upper river She will be brought over the rapids and sold to some party in Portland, and be used in towing wood and sand barges up and down the lower river.

FELL OVERBOARD.—A deck hand employed on one of the steamboats, had a very narrow escape from drowning a few evenings since He was under the influence of liquor and while walking on a plank laid from the wharf to the boat, he stumbled and fell into the river uttering a piercing cry as he fell Luckily a sailor heard him and procuring a rope he threw it to him and the drowning man eagerly grasped it and did not loose his hold until he was safe on terra firma

A CLOTHES THIEF.—A thievish individual who had no apparent fear of the law boldly entered a yard on Sixth street Monday night at 8 o'clock and purloined a lot of shirts dresses, skirts, etc. from a clothes line The thief was supposed to be a Chinaman but as the owner of the clothes was unable to see the form distinctly in the darkness he did not positively know that the purloiner was a Celestial. A sharp lookout should be kept for these nocturnal prowlers

STEAMER OHIO.—The steamer Ohio returned last evening from Eugene City with a 160 ton cargo of wheat, flour bacon and general merchandise She will leave to day at 11 A M for Salem to take on a load of flour for the La Escocesa, now completing cargo at Astoria The Ohio will leave again for Eugene City next Monday, April 12th

TOO LATE.—We are in receipt of a card of invitation to an entertainment to be given on the 9th inst. at Empire City for the benefit of the Ross Rifles the military company recently organized As it is impossible to reach there in season, we shall be obliged to express our regrets

BOARD OF DELEGATES.—This evening there will be a regular monthly meeting of the Board of Delegates of the Portland Fire Department, at the Police Court rooms at 7 30 o'clock All members of the Board are requested to be present.

BUILDINGS.—A large two story house has been erected at the corner of Fourth and Jefferson streets The house on Front street which is being built by Mr A. Watts will soon be completed The stone foundation to Messrs Carter & Grover's brick structure on Alder and Front streets has been laid and workmen are busily engaged on the rest of the building Two brick stores will soon be erected at the corner of Morrison and First street

SERENADE.—After the hour of evening the Aurora band proceeded to the residence of Mr Halsey on Fourth street and played several beautiful selections as a compliment to that gentleman who on his passed the entire band over their colorful charge The compliment was well deserved

ACCIDENT.—As a Mr John Proebstel a resident of Clarke county W T was leaving the Rink last night he made a misstep and fell meeting with injuries rendering the presence of a physician necessary He was taken to his hotel for treatment

THE SOCIABLE.—The sociable given by the young folks at the Congregationalist church last evening was a complete success both socially and financially The literary exercises throughout were very fine and given by some of the best amateurs in the city

PRISONER.—Messrs Bell Beach and C I Bell who have been connected with the Star Line agency in this city leave this morning on the Sea Bird for San Francisco They are excellent young men and deserve success wherever they go

THE FAIR.

The presence of the Aurora brass band was a strong inducement to attract many to the fair last evening Those who took advantage of the opportunity were well repaid as the concert was really very fine During yesterday may attractive articles were added to the prizes, among which was a cake, the top of which the artist (Mr Getz, of A Miller & Co) had ornamented with a figure representing the allegorical picture entitled Wacht am Rhein The work indicates that Mr Getz is a thorough artist in that line The booths were well patronized and everybody appeared highly pleased with the surroundings and particularly the music produced by the band Between the hours of 11 A M and 2 P M to day a lunch will be served the Aurora band volunteering for the time specified At 8 o'clock this evening the drawing will commence No tickets will be sold after that hour and if you are desirous of drawing a prize you should purchase in time. All tickets are good at the drawing and the holders thereof should be present upon the occasion Recollect this is the last opportunity you will have to attend the German Fair, the proceeds of which are to be applied to a good object—the building of a hospital in Portland

AMUSEMENTS

THEATER.—The inclement weather and great attractions elsewhere had a tendency to keep many away from the New Market theater last evening when 'Mons Alphonse and Handy Andy' were presented for the first time Beyond a well set scene we saw nothing very attractive in the first play The piece is of the Parisian sensation order All who were cast in the play dressed the characters with excellent taste and acted them admirably and that is all that can be said of it We are certain Mr Herne has better plays in his repertoire which have not been presented to this public and even those preceding Mons Alphonse are far more attractive In Handy Andy Mr Herne was very funny and with Mr Whiffen, in one of the scenes he created much merriment The same bill will be repeated to-night

Carroll and Butler the popular song and dance men, take a benefit at the Adelphi to night They present a lengthy programme.

REPORTS

A report was read from the committee on fire and water to the effect that they had entered into a contract with the Electrical Maintenance Company, in San Francisco for the construction of an automatic fire telegraph in this city for the sum of $7 500 report adopted

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT

A L Hallock chief engineer, submitted the following report which was read and referred to the committee on fire and water

To the Mayor and Common Council—Gentlemen I call your attention to the following matters relating to the Fire Department and ask that you make provision for doing the work as early as possible

In the corporation sheet no water or gas connections have been made The pipe for water has been laid from the front of the building to the bell tower in wards of seventy feet As most of the hose washing will be done in the street at least 100 feet of hose will be required to do the work with 50 feet of hose can be saved if the connection is removed to the front of the house The plug cock intended to attach hose to is of different screw from any hose in use by this department and will require the purchase of new hose and couplings and pipe I think there should be about four gas burners put in the hose to supply light so that apparatus may be placed in or taken out of it in the night There is no room in the house for storing of tools, wrenches, torches lanterns and other small supplies for the department A small room could be partitioned off at little expense in which they could be safely kept This has been erected or stove provided for the hose I think they will be required before the coming fall

The racks for drying hose on the pins driven into the posts of the wall, about six feet from centers and the hose extended upon them will sag between and prevent drainage This can be obviated by laying boards on them I think it will be better to place the racks all upon one side of the building as there is ample room for them

The bell tower will require some alterations probably for the striking apparatus I have mentioned before my ideas as to the situation of the alarm bell but the most of our citizens are of the opinion that the tone of the bell will not be heard sufficiently to be of service as intended except in an immediate locality until it is elevated to a greater height. About the foundation walls of the building the trenches have not been filled with earth I think they should be filled to at least a few inches above the surrounding earth Also that a sidewalk should be laid between this house and Hook & Ladder house as that passage is in very bad condition now

The hose carriages contemplated for Nos 1 and 4 I trust you will authorize to be contracted for soon as it will require a considerable time to build them properly Other matters concerning Nos 1 and 4 are referred to in my communication of March 3d

No 4 engine needs a new water gauge glass Two of these glasses have been broken on this engine since January 1st, and I think it will be well to authorize the purchase of more than one glass of the size used by this engine

The bell on No 4 Engine house has been broken and its tone ruined The city has also the remains of the bell destroyed by fire at the old Hook & Ladder house, August 2 1873 Both of these bells might be recast at about one-half their original cost and make two serviceable alarm bells

No 2 Engine Company have taken their apparatus to the new house erected for them The condition of some parts of this house are mentioned in former reports In addition thereto I inform you that the front doors are very badly hung as neither of them will open more than half way when they strike the floor As a matter of economy the doors should be properly hung at once One of the doors is considerably injured already

The door at the entrance of the meeting hall has a broken stile and no bolt at the bottom and requires to be repaired

The house also requires some stoves and pipe for the several rooms The only one now in use by the company is an old one borrowed from the O S N Co

In erecting the watch-out for this building no urinals was provided I think one should be erected for the convenience and health of the members of the company

In front of the house the platform near the hydrant was broken at the time of taking out the hydrant for the removal of the old building and it now requires some new pieces of plank to be put in The expense would probably not exceed $— and if done will save a bad mud hole as well as close up a dangerous place

The old steam engine No 2 requires some essential repairs Some are occasioned by long use and some by the exposure to frost last winter New rubber springs were procured for this engine last fall and they have not been authorized to be put on The cost of the repairs on the engine I am not able to judge of definately but I think it would be from $50 to $ 5

The hydrants and cisterns remain in about the same condition as when reported upon before Some cistern tops require additional repairs to those already reported to wit Sixth and Main street plank bad C and North Second ditto Fourth and Stark hole in road plank Second and Alder rotten

A number of the cisterns have received considerable deposits of mud during the winter and, as usual require cleaning I hope you will give the necessary authority for this work at an early day

I call your attention to the fact that you have not yet authorized the purchase of the fire hose contemplated in the ordinance making appropriations for the fire department The supply of hose is entirely inadequate to the service required Under the present fire limits and the greatest fire may be needed and as the special tax for fire department purposes has nearly all been collected and now lies in the city treasury it seems to me a good school policy to authorize the purchase of the 1 000 feet of hose as soon as possible Very respectfully yours &c

A B HALLOCK
Chief Engineer

CONCORD AND LEXINGTON.

The arrangements for the two April centennials are now nearly all made, and both will be sufficiently thronged if the day is fine. At Concord Judge Hoar will preside, and General Frank Barlow will be the chief marshal. Like the orator of the day, G. W. Curtis, General Barlow was in his youth a resident of Concord. This was after Barlow left Brook Farm, and before he entered Harvard College, where he graduated in 1855. As will doubtless be remembered, he was a distinguished officer in the Union army and was badly wounded at Gettysburg. No doubt he will say something at the dinner table, where poetry and eloquence will be "dog cheap," as Mr. Emerson used to say of the anti-slavery conventions. It is even expected that General Grant will make a speech. The statue of the Concord minute-man, which is to unveiled then and there, is now complete in the bronze at Chicopee, but will soon be removed to Concord. It is said to be the best piece of work ever done at the Chicopee foundry, and is quite satisfactory to the town committee which went to see it this week. The place where it is to stand is at some distance from the spot where the oration and dinner speeches will be made, but it will be unveiled and exhibited to the spectators as the grand procession passes by it, or its way to the tent. The place of the statue is the very spot, where, by tradition, Captain Davis, of Acton, was shot down at the head of his company. Close by this place is the stone shed where the granite pedestal for the statue is now getting chiseled and lettered with Mr. Emerson's verses. Mr. French, the artist who modeled the statue, will remain in Florence and not come home to see his first great figure set up. Two or three new accoutrements of the fight of the three new accoutrements of the fight of the "embattled farmers" with the red-coats are now in type ready to appear in the April and May magazines—the longest being by Frederick Hudson, which is to come out, with copious illustrations, in Harper's Magazine. The Lexington version of the day's business there and at Concord will also be published somewhere, I suppose, and the old wrangle about the glory due to the respective towns that took part in the fight will go on for another hundred years. Well, there is glory enough for them all.—Letter to the Springfield Republican.

SOME OF THE PECULIARITIES OF THE NEW SENATORS.—Burnside is over-absorbed at his desk with private correspondence. All sorts of notes, dainty and otherwise, heap up, daily, before him, and he toils religiously through them all. Black K. Bruce, the colored Senator, thus far wears a black kid glove upon his left hand during the session. He is very quiet and writes in a very leisurely way, as if he were conscious that he is at the beginning of a long term in the Senate, and he will have plenty of time to learn the points of the situation. Christiancy is one of the most timid of the new Senators. He is a man for provincial life, unused entirely to the ways of the world, and is, as a matter of course, unusually weighed with the responsibilities of the situation. Jones of Florida is the queerest looking man. He is a tall, ungainly-looking blonde, with a red face, and sharp, aquiline features. He has a look about him of awkwardness and worldly innocence that is interesting to see. He makes his headquarters at the Ebbitt House, and he spends all his leisure moments in walking about the lobbies. He is, of course, surrounded by crowds of people anxious to make his acquaintance. Jones appears to have knowledge of men as they go. He appears to be doubtful of his social position, and is as awkward in an introduction as a young man from the rural districts applying for a situation. Angus Cameron, Carpenter's successor, is a quiet industrious man, who works very steadily at his desk, and does not pay any too much attention to the speeches upon the Louisiana question. Caperon of West Virginia has a huge white blanket of a beard that makes him look enough like Bassett, the door-keeper, to be his brother.—Washington Cor. Boston Globe.

A PASTOR'S CONSCIENCE.—The refusal of Bishop Whittingham to confirm the election of an Assistant Bishop, on the grounds that the candidate had a second wife, while St. Paul says that a Bishop should be the husband of but one, has been productive of a sad result in New Orleans. The Rev. Albert Dyke, the pastor of a small church, was for several years a widower. A few months ago he married a refined and wealthy young lady. Apparently, they loved each other intensely. He was a hard student, and perhaps too much study unbalanced his reason. Upon reading of Bishop Whittingham's action he became convinced of its justice, and that he had sinned in marrying twice. He brooded over the matter until, deciding that the salvation of his soul was imperilled, he told his wife they must separate, and compelled her to go home to her parents. His church condemned his course, and a suit was begun to compel him to support his wife. Her parents also threatened to have him sent to an insane asylum, but this freak of conscience was his only mental peculiarity. He professes to be grief-stricken at the separation, but declares that he must follow the line of duty at any cost.

MR. GRANT ASKED TO SPEAK OUT.—As for the third-term cry, the best way to stop that would be for the President himself to disclaim all intention of being a candidate again. It may not be "usual" to take that course, but neither is the agitation on the subject usual. Exceptional cases require to be exceptionally treated. There is no one thing in the world which would do so much to restore union in the Republican party to-day, or do more to insure its success next year, than a letter of half a dozen lines from General Grant, saying that under no circumstances would he become a candidate for his present office a third time. He would only follow out a precedent which he set himself before his first nomination in writing a letter of this kind. He may not be disposed to do this, but the head of a party should occasionally be willing to surrender his own wishes to the reasonable demands and manifest interests of his followers.—New York Times.

THE CHINAMAN'S NOAH.—It is believed that Fohi, the first King of China, is identical with Noah. The Chinese themselves claim that Fohi has no father; and Noah, although subsequent to the flood the great progenitor of the race, was himself at that time fatherless. The mother of Fohi is said to have borne him encompassed with a rainbow—an evident allusion to the bow of promise revealed to Noah as the sign of God's covenant. Fohi is represented to have reared seven kinds of creatures, which he sacrificed to the Great Supreme. Noah also took into the ark clean beasts and fowls by sevens, which he offered to the God of heaven as offerings; Fohi is represented as drawing off the waters which had deluged the earth, thus identifying him with the flood.

The farm houses of Mr. Montgomery, of San Juan Island, were destroyed by fire Saturday before last.

Latest Liverpool wheat quotations are 8s 10d@9s 2d for average California, and 9s 2d@9s 11d for club. A London dispatch of the 6th, which we publish elsewhere, says the markets generally have advanced one shilling, which we presume means a quarter, or about five cents per cental.

In business matters of the local character but little has transpired to-day out of the usual routine. The monetary situation is unchanged, the tendency to a closer condition of affairs being still observable in the local market. The loanable funds, hardly show as large a surplus as was on hand a month since, and though a decided advance in rates has occurred which can be called general in its character, yet there is an evident hardening tendency in the market and a more conservative disposition on the part of moneyed institutions in granting accommodations.

The week so far has been an improvement on the preceding in trade matters, but it can hardly be said to be as full of activity as dealers expect, or usually enjoy at this season. The orders now coming to hand, however, are from first-class customers, and either accompanied by cash or accounted as good. Merchants from the Wallamet valley, as well as from the country east of the Cascades, are in the market for spring supplies, but their purchases are limited to the actual wants of the trade, taking few goods except such as the masses of the people must have. They are able this spring to secure stocks on the most reasonable terms as to prices, wholesale and jobbing houses working on small margins but keeping careful watch as to the responsibility of the buyer, and customers who are known as A 1 in the matter of prompt payments are able to do just about as well here in all ordinary purchases as in San Francisco.

The Wheat Market.

We can see no change in our own market arising from the continued firmness and advancing tendency of this cereal in England. While this may seem somewhat strange at first glance, it is no cause for surprise, as wheat purchased and shipped here from now until the condition at harvest of the next crop can at least be certainly predicted, must bear the risk of arriving on the European markets in the face of a full yield. Temporary fluctuations in the English market which are now taking place, will therefore have less effect upon prices here than will the accepted condition of the growing crops in the various grain growing countries of the world. Our London telegram of to-day which notes the advance of 1s per quarter, does not give any figures, but on the last quotations this would be 8 cents 9d for average California, and 9s 7d@10s 1d for club.

Transactions are dull at home to-day, and some who have been constantly in the market are refusing to take orders to load vessels at present. All exporters agree that the season's business has been one of but little chance to realize anything handsome while losses have been frequent to all shippers. But one thing is true, farmers in Oregon have sold about as cheaply as possible if they are to be paid for raising.

Miscellaneous.

Among the cheering business indications is the fact that the exports from New York to Europe by the regular lines of steamers are assuming proportions unusually large for this season of the year.

The St. Louis Live Stock and Commercial Record reports that the packing in that city during the regular season, which ended March 10th, was 462,246 head, against 466,795 the winter previous. The average weight was 238.44 lbs, and yield of lard 34.25 lbs, against 261.55 and 34.18 a year ago.

The foreign commerce of New York increased $1,500,000 last month, compared with the corresponding month last year, which is attributed to a hurrying forward of goods to anticipate the advance in the tariff. The exports for the last eight months of the current fiscal year amount to $223,676,323, including specie, against $231,429,620 for the corresponding months one year ago.

Washington advices state that the Treasury coin disbursements for the remainder of the fiscal year, including the January interest, will exceed $20,000,000. The total amount of coin held by the Treasury now is $75,537,137, against which there are $21,971,000 of coin certificates outstanding. The Treasury now holds $231,500,000 in bonds to secure national bank-note circulation, and $16,150,000 to secure public deposits. The outstanding national bank note circulation is $349,260,000, of which $2,290,000 are gold notes.

The Pittsburgh Commercial says: "The outlook for the agricultural interests of the country is improving. The latest advices from Europe report the wheat markets of England and the continent as steadily improving, and a speculation is ventured by the Mark Lane Express, the standard grain authority of Great Britain, that the lowest prices have been reached everywhere. We have still a large supply of cereals in the granaries of the West, and this improvement in the European markets may lead to an export demand at better prices, and a good export business in grain means a revival of business and active employment to railroads and the people."

The first ruling made by the commissioner of internal revenue under the provisions of the new tax and tariff law was in reference to the time of taking effect of the new rates on spirits and tobacco. It is, that collectors may resume sale of stamps for distilled spirits in cistern rooms or warehouses prior to midnight of the third ult., at seventy cents per gallon, and make requisition for stamps for spirits produced from that date. All spirits so produced after midnight of that day are subject to the tax of ninety cents per gallon, according to the provisions of the new law. Tobacco or cigars in the hands of manufacturers, legally packed and properly stamped prior to midnight of the third ult., are to be charged at the old rate of twenty cents.

In the Chicago iron market things look decidedly better. The Tribune of that city says: "The pig iron market shows signs of revival, and the hardware men are very much encouraged at the prospects before them."

Reports by mail of the state of the spring trade in London up to February 27, show some slight indications of revival, but there is still a great want of activity, and few merchants or manufacturers are disposed to extend largely their operations. It appears that all millions of the thirty millions of bonds called in by the Secretary of the Treasury on account of the sinking fund were registered bonds, instead of the entire amount, as was thought likely would be the case. This will take a good deal of gold out of the country, nevertheless, the withdrawal of such a large amount of six per cents, cannot fail to impart a healthy stimulus to the sale of the five per cents, and to strengthen the national credit.

A report of the earnings of thirteen Western railways for February shows a total of $2,522,043, against $2,586,736 for the corresponding period last year, a decrease of $61,790. The gross earnings of same roads from the 1st of January to the 1st of the present month were $4,548,635, against $4,356,845 in 1874, a decrease of $8,210. Aside from the well understood depression in railroad business, compared with the last year, the earnings of these roads were undoubtedly considerably affected by the severe snow blockades at the West, while in some cases the mileage has been decreased, by discontinuing branch lines, until a more active movement sets in. Hence the falling off in question.

The English Breadstuffs Market.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

LONDON, April 6.—The Mark Lane Express, reviewing the breadstuffs market, says: Spring planting has been effectually completed here and on the continent. The condition of the crops has varied but little since. Generally speaking, the weather has been favorable for the growth of the plant. Trade in wheat continues improved, and spite of holiday dullness prices have advanced a shilling generally.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Still the market rules very quiet and quotations exhibit no disposition to fluctuate from our last quotations of $1 40 per cental. Six hundred and fifty tons were sent from this city to-day to load the Sussex at Astoria, and the cargo of the Wisconsin is also in rapid transit to the ship's side.

FLOUR—With light receipts, we quote at $4 50@5 bbl. for standard extras, $4@4 25 for good outside brands, and $3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There are but few lots coming to hand, and transactions are dull. Offers of 48c a bushel are made to-day, with no sellers. The surplus is getting very low along the river and railroads, and until the country roads are in better condition, receipts are likely to continue, as now, very light.

BARLEY—There is a good demand for choice lots for the local trade and for shipment. We note choice for brewing, $1 35@1 40 per cwt.; common, $1 25@1 30.

MILL FEED—There is a scarcity of bran, shorts and middlings, but chopped feed is in fair supply. We quote jobber's prices for bran at $18@14 per ton, middlings $27@29, shorts $20.

HAY—Is still in moderate request at $10@11 per ton for timothy, with a decline in the receipts. Wild hay finds slow sale at $7@7 50.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for good lots for shipment at 72½@75c per bushel, the range of quotations being 70@75c.

ONIONS—The market is in fair supply, and the demand dull at 3½@4c per pounds for choice assorted.

APPLES, RIPE—The receipts are again becoming reduced, and choice lots are scarcer. However, the inquiry for shipping is not very active, and the local demand is fully supplied at 75c@$1 box, according to quality.

APPLES, GREEN—The trade is inactive, but prices are nominally steady at 3c @ lb, in sacks, and 6c in kegs.

BACON—There is something of a firmer tone to the market, but no important appreciation in prices since our last review. We note sales of sides at 11c @ lb, shoulders 8@9c; hams, 14c; the latter properly quotable at 15@16c.

LARD—There is a fair demand for good quality in tins and kegs, quotable at 11c @ lb in the former, and 12c in kegs.

EGGS—Owing to light demand for shipping and considerable increase in receipts would soon send prices below 15c @ doz., at which we now quote.

BUTTER—The market is bare of choice lots, and short on all valuable qualities. We quote at 45c @ lb for best roll, and 30@35c for common.

CHICKENS—Good lots quotable at $4 50; choice $4 75@5 per dozen; common, $3 75@4 25.

DRESSED HOGS—The packing season (Dressed Hog Co.) is over, the only demand is for the home trade and is not brisk at 6@6½c @ lb.

BEEF CATTLE—There have been but few arrivals of choice lots during the past week, and for such quotations are unchanged, 6@6½; cts @ lb net on foot; ordinary quotable at 5@5½c.

MUTTON SHEEP—There is a scarcity of choice in the market and butchers are compelled to pay $6 50 per head for such; common quotable at $3 50@5.

HIDES AND FURS—A dull and declining demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choiced dry: 16@c @ lb; green salted, 6½c; culls, 10@12; dry salted, 12c @ lb; deer, 18@35c @ lb dried, and 50@75c apiece green; mink skins each, $1@1 50; otter, $2@3; beaver, 75@$1.

WOOL—Very few transactions are taking place; best grades quotable at 20@22c @ lb; common to half lots, 16@18c.

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Rival was towed down to St. Helens this afternoon, where she will partially load with lumber and proceed to Columbia City to finish.

The Ben Holladay towed the Rival down the river this afternoon, and leaving her at St. Helens will go on to Carroll's point and tow the schooner Breadnought, which is loaded with stave bolts, to Astoria.

The Orifiamme, overdue from San Francisco, had not put in an appearance at a late hour this evening.

The schooner Superior from San Francisco with a full cargo of assorted merchandise is in the river and will probably arrive here to morrow.
